New York

Sailing in or out of New York Harbor is an unforgettable experience -- the ship glides past the familiar skyline and, of course, the Statue of Liberty. New York offers an endless array of things to do: Visit fabulous museums, window-shop along Fifth Avenue, stroll Central Park, ride to the 86th-floor observatory of the Empire State Building or catch a Broadway show. Or, soak up the sights and sounds of one of its neighborhoods, whether it's avant-garde Greenwich Village, stylish SoHo, bustling Chinatown or the fashionable Upper West Side and, of course, Times Square.

Halifax, Nova Scotia

This city's seafaring roots run deep. Displays at the Maritime Museum include models of vessels and a Titanic exhibit. Highlights include the Citadel National Historic Park, the Nova Scotia Museum, St. Paul's Anglican Church and the Historic Properties. You can also make the short trip to the Bay of Fundy or Peggy's Cove.

Sydney, Nova Scotia

Nova Scotia means New Scotland, and the sound of bagpipes is not uncommon here. Early Scottish settlers felt the land resembled home. Take a trip to the Fortress of Louisbourg National Historic Park, an amazing re-creation of a 1744 French fortress. Venture out to Bird Islands to spot the Atlantic puffin and bald eagle. The sinuous Cabot Trail along the coast offers one of the most dramatic drives in North America.

Akureyri, Iceland

With a stunning natural harbor in the Eyja fjords, Akureyri is just 30 mins from the spectacular Godafoss Waterfalls. Popular tour options include whale watching, hiking and a visit to the beautiful and serene Lake Myvatn area.

Isafjordur, Iceland

Isafjordur boasts a spectacular, unspoiled landscape. The town, located on the Westfjords peninsula in northwest Iceland, features charming shops and a maritime museum, and also is a jumping off point for excursions throughout the region. Paddle past snow-draped mountains on a kayaking adventure, take photos in front of the cascades of Dynjandi waterfall, sample traditional Viking beer and bread in Thingeyri and listen to tales of local life while enjoying fresh seafood in the village of Sudureyri. Daily cruises to Vigur island offer sightings of eiders, puffins, arctic terns, guillemots and other birds, while a visit to the Arctic Fox Center allows you to learn about and observe the country's only native terrestrial mammal. Whale-watching safaris are also available.

Reykjavik, Iceland

Reykjavik is the capital of this jagged land of fire and ice. With its widespread lava fields, massive glaciers, deep fjords, lush lowlands and high plains, Iceland is a haven for geology and nature lovers. The city is the region's cultural and financial centre. The most popular tours visit the Golden Waterfall, the Strokkur Geyser, Thingvellir National Park, the Blue Lagoon and The Pearl, a domed building offering exceptional views of the city.

Alesund, Norway

The gateway to the Geirangerfjord, Alesund spans several islands that reach into the Atlantic Ocean. The town is known for its art nouveau architecture, which creates a setting that's right out of a fairytale. Learn about this design style at the Art Nouveau Centre, or take a bus tour to see the spires, rounded turrets and ornamentation that adorn local buildings. The Norwegian Aquarium has an underwater observatory, daily feeding demonstrations and an outdoor penguin park, while the Fisheries Museum, located in a warehouse built in 1861, features a laboratory that produces cod liver oil. Wildlife safaris transport you past seal colonies to the island of Runde, home to hundreds of thousands of puffins, shags, skuas, gannets and other sea birds during nesting season. For spectacular vistas of the city, ocean and surrounding Sunnmøre Alps, ascend the 418 steps to the Aksla Viewpoint.

Geiranger

The snake-like Geirangerfjord stretches between the tiny villages of Geiranger and Hellesylt, boasting waterfalls with such romantic names as "The Seven Sisters," "The Bridal Veil" and "The Suitor." All around Geiranger there is great hiking to abandoned farmsteads, waterfalls and some beautiful vista points. This is a truly spectacular port of call.

Bergen

Norway's second-largest city, Bergen is the gateway to the country's mesmerizing fjords. Walking, Segway and double-decker bus tours bring you to Bryggen wharf, the 12th-century trade centre that now is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Explore the district's shops, galleries and art studios, and visit the Hanseatic Museum to learn about the merchants who once lived and sold here. The city is surrounded by seven mountains, and a funicular railway ride to the top of the tallest peak, Mount Floyen, reveals postcard-worthy views. Other notable attractions include St. Mary's Church, the town's oldest structure; the seasonal fish market, with its fresh seafood, fruit and vegetables; the Bergenhus Fortress Museum, which highlights Norway's role in World War II; and an aquarium, where you can observe sea lions, crocodiles and more. On a catamaran cruise to the picturesque Osterfjord and Mostraumen strait, sample ice-cold mountain water your captain captures from a waterfall.

Amsterdam

This vibrant city in the Netherlands, lining a maze of canals, offers endless surprises. Visit the world-renowned Rijksmuseum (it houses Rembrandt's "Night Watch"), Dam Square and the Royal Palace. In spring, the tulip gardens are a favourite destination. The Anne Frank House and the Heineken Brewery are open for tours.

Zeebrugge (Brussels – Belgium)

Zeebrugge sits on the coast of the North Sea, providing the starting point for trips to Bruges, Ghent and Brussels. There is so much to do this will be an action packed day. Tours are available to all three regions or just head to Brussels. Start at the Manneken Pis landmark, then journey onto the historic cathedrals, the Place Royale, the Atomium, Mont des Arts, and the Notre Dame du Sablon church dating back to the 15th Century.

London

A fitting end to your amazing journey. Southampton is a coastal city located in southern England, about 70 miles southwest of London. London highlights are endless, from the Changing of the Guard ceremony at Buckingham Palace and the Crown Jewels display at the Tower of London, to a cruise along the River Thames and a ride on the world-famous London Eye, a 443-foot Ferris wheel offering bird's-eye views of the capital city. It also is a great starting point for countryside excursions to the mysterious structures at Stonehenge as well as the towns of Bath and Stratford-upon-Avon, the birthplace of Shakespeare.
